

“ How Can I Keep From Singing? ”

Community as a Gift from God

Gloria Dei Lutheran Church is very excited to host a nationally recognized clinician, sacred composer and arranger, at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church in Coos Bay, Oregon. Sacred choral enthusiasts would normally have to go to Portland or Seattle to attend a clinic like this and pay twice as much. This clinic is for choir directors, music leaders, worship leaders, pastors and choral singers. The cost is $ 35.00 per person which will include a music packet. To register please go to <http://www.gloriadeifamily.org/>. $45.00 after September 15, 2008
In order to guarantee a music packet, must receive registration by September 15, 2008

A Romp through the Church Year

DEBORAH GOVENOR (1954 -)

Deborah Govenor is an Ohio native and a graduate of The Ohio State University, where she received a Bachelor of Music Education degree as a piano major, and Trinity Lutheran Seminary, where she received a Master of Theological Studies degree, and is a certified Associate in Ministry in the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America. She has served as organist in two Columbus, Ohio area Lutheran churches, as well as directing adult, junior, high school and bell choirs. She also taught piano for several years, during which time she began her composing career and now has over 50 anthems in print. Debby is currently employed by Beckenhorst Press, Inc. a sacred music publishing company in Columbus, Ohio, as organ editor.

Debby recently moved from Columbus, Ohio, to Bar Harbor, Maine, with her husband, Paul Bartels, a retired German and English teacher and singer, along with their family of four dogs and two cats. Her other musical interests include the Celtic harp, hammered and mountain dulcimers, bowed psaltery and the shuttle pipes. Three of her Celtic harp and recorder duet books have recently been published by Afghan Press. She and her husband enjoy traveling and are avid football fans.
